Accused baby killer Anthony was a party animal who wanted to appear on reality TV

SHE'S A MANIAC!

MONSTER MOM CASEY'S DEADLY TV STAR DREAM

Tragic Caylee

She wanted role on 'Survivor' and Caylee paid the price

Caylee after she vanished on June 16, 2008, reveals what he calls the party girl mom's motive murder in a stunning new book, "Privilege Waived — Part II: Caylee Marie Anthony."

The investigator charges "America's most hated woman" planned her daughter's death for months before drowning Caylee in her family's backyard above-ground pool.

Her twisted motive was a desperate dream to a star on the TV reality show "Survivor," says the private eye. The starstruck vixen described her TV plans in her profile on the dating website

Cupid.com.

"Her profile became her manifesto ... how she would survive after murdering Caylee and get away with it," writes the author.

Amazingly, Caylee's mother even applied to audition for "Survivor," but never showed up for the interview, the book says. Anthony's lawyer told the jury Caylee accidentally drowned in the family pool and Anthony's dad, George, masterminded a cover-up. But the book charges Anthony was googling ways to fatally suffocate the tot with chloroform, acetone or hydrogen peroxide months before the child's death.

MONSTER mom Casey Anthony beat the rap for murdering her adorable 2-year-old daughter Caylee, but a private eye charges she brutally drowned the girl with her bare hands — just so she could become a reality show star!

WHATTA MAMA'S BOY!

Why Bradley Cooper CAN'T keep a gal

BRADLEY Cooper listens closely to his mom — and here's the proof!

The 40-year-old "American Sniper" hunk — voted one of the "Sexiest Men Alive" — still lives with his mother, Gloria, and he takes her along on dates!

"She's the reason he hasn't found Ms. Right yet," says a source. "His mother vets all his women!"

"She and Bradley have an incredibly close bond. She is his rock and he listens to all her advice.

"When push comes to shove, he will definitely choose his mom over any girlfriend!"

"But now all Bradley has left is a long list of broken romances."

Mother and son moved in together after Bradley's father, Charles, 71, died of cancer in 2011.

"Don't get me wrong. It's not without complications," Bradley says. "It's not like I live in a compound and she's in the guest house.

"No. She's in the next room. But she's a cool chick. She's one of my closest friends."

Pals say his protective mom doesn't want another failed marriage like his four-month union with actress Jennifer Esposito that ended in 2007.

She apparently derailed a reunion between Bradley and galpal Zoe Saldana, says a source.

"She told Bradley their relationship had failed twice already, why go through all that again?"

"She approved of Renée Zellweger and they are still friends. But she reportedly threatened to boycott the wedding if Bradley tied the knot with his much younger girlfriend, Suki Waterhouse, last year. They broke up."

Now Bradley is head over heels for supermodel Irina Shayk, 29, a Sports Illustrated cover girl.

The couple, looking madly in love, hit the beach in New Jersey in September — and mom came, too! It was Gloria who Bradley had his arm around as they arrived at a New York hotel Nov. 10. He was carrying her purse!

Bradley has been dogged with gay rumors. "I'm sure he'd like to get married and put those to rest," says a source. "But you have to wonder if he will ever find a girl who is perfect for him — and his mom!"

IT'S A CROC! 'DANCING' IS RIGGED!

Fan fave Bindi Irwin guaranteed spot in contest's Final Four by surprising secret deal

SHOCKING LOSS

Alexa and Mark won raves – and then got bounced from the show!

TOO SICK TO DANCE

Tamar and partner Valentin left as she claimed to be ill

HAPPY VICTORS

Bindi and Derek's success has sparked rumors of a fix

SCANDALOUS new charges of “rigging” are flying after the late Croc Hunter’s 17-year-old daughter, Bindi Irwin, made the finals of “Dancing with the Stars.”

Outraged fans are claiming “Spy Kids” beauty Alexa PenaVega and partner Mark Ballas were sensational in their routine — yet were inexplicably given the boot.

Then, another top performer, songbird Tamar Braxton, suddenly dropped out due to pneumonia symptoms — leading fans to suspect a conspiracy to let lovable Bindi and partner Derek Hough slip into the Final Four. Viewers are crying foul and claiming the fix is in.

Hope says the fix was in at “Dancing with the Stars”

“Bindi’s a cutie pie, but no way does she deserve to be a finalist,” says one online post. “Other couples were much better. There’s something really fishy here.”

Blasts another viewer: “This kind of stuff is why people believe the show is rigged. I know I do.”

Producers have put the fix in to deliver votes for the darling daughter of late Crocodile Hunter Steve Irwin, sources say.

“Show execs always prefer a good story to good dancing,” says a “DWTS” whistleblower, “and this season they rigged it so Bindi would stay on. Manipulating the votes is no big deal.”

Bindi is the most popular contestant on the show, according to the source. Having her take home the coveted gold Mirrorball Trophy would make for a touching triumph-over-tragedy story, guaranteed to please viewers.

Bindi was just 8 when her dad was killed by a stingray’s horrifying attack in 2006. He was 44. “It’s Hollywood, there’s got to be a happy ending,” says the insider.

This isn’t the first time the program has been rocked by “fixing” charges.

In 2012, soccer star Hope Solo, a two-time Olympic gold medalist, said “DWTS” is rigged” in her book “Solo: A Memoir of Hope.”

Furious producers charged then that she “made up the allegations merely to sell books,” says a source.

But Hope’s claim is that “DWTS” partner Maksim Chmerkovskiy told her of the fix, though he later blasted her remarks as a “pack of lies.”

The fix has been in for Bindi on the 21st season of “Dancing” because, says the source, “it was obvious the longer she stayed on the show, the fans would keep tuning in.”

JOAN COLLINS CONFIRMS SIS JACKIE’S SAD SUICIDE

JOAN COLLINS has revealed the shocking truth first reported by GLOBE about her sister Jackie’s tragic death — it was assisted suicide!

Just days after the best-selling novelist died on Sept. 19, GLOBE exclusively revealed the 77-year-old breast cancer victim had arranged her own death! “She said goodbye to her daughters, who were with her, laid her head on the pillow, closed her eyes and went to sleep,” a longtime friend told GLOBE.

Now Joan, 82, agrees her younger sister, author of the popular books “Hollywood Wives” and “Lucky,” wrote her own ending!

“With Jackie, it was her own choice. She didn’t lose her looks, she was beautiful and vibrant until the end of her life,” says a choked-up Joan. “I didn’t know she was ill until two weeks before. She didn’t want a fuss. It’s very sad.

“I would infinitely prefer to do what my sister did. Not only for myself, but for my dear ones.”

DIANA'S TORRID LOVE LETTERS!

She told her lover he fathered Harry, and Charles would 'kill her' when he found out DIANA'S longtime lover James Hewitt rocked the Palace after being caught selling eight intimate letters from the lovesick Princess — but the handwritten notes are just the tip of the iceberg, sources tell GLOBE!

Incredibly, the cash-strapped love rat has at least 60 MORE explosive messages from Diana — trapped in a loveless marriage to Prince Charles — that threaten the very stability of the royal family, insiders reveal.

While the items currently on the market are “innocent schoolgirl love notes,” a source insists the letters Hewitt held back “read like a bodice-ripping romance novel” and were sent to the red-haired British Army tank commander while he was serving in the Gulf War in 1991. The source insists these notes contain jaw-dropping revelations that include:

- Diana's admission that ginger-haired son Harry really IS Hewitt's love child.

- Her prediction that Charles “WILL KILL” her when he finds out about the paternity

Harry's paternity has been debated for years, but Diana's secret letters make it clear that James is really his dad scandal.

- Diana's gut-wrenching hatred for “disgusting” Camilla — and how she CAUGHT her in kinky sex games with the Prince of Wales.

Palace insiders believe Hewitt, 57, is keeping the most sensational letters hidden under lock and key — for now.

“But he's not keeping Diana's dignity intact out of any sense of chivalry,” says an insider familiar with Diana's notes. “I believe there's a chance some revelations could get him killed!”

“The biggest bombshell is Diana admitting, ‘Yes, it's true. Harry is your son.’”

“It's clear they had already talked about the possibility — and from the note, the Princess seems happy James is her younger son's father.”

Speculation about Harry's paternity has been rampant since he was a kid. He looks nothing like Charles but is an uncanny look-alike for Hewitt, with his long face, strong jaw and red hair!

GLOBE recently revealed that evil Camilla has even taunted Harry and told him she can prove Charles isn't his father!

Hewitt has acknowledged he had a five-year affair with Diana. It was believed they weren't intimate until 1986, two years after Harry's birth. But,

10 years ago, Hewitt revealed he first bedded Diana in 1982!

“No wonder Diana believed Charles ‘will want me dead’ if he found out about Harry's paternity,” says the insider. “She warned James that Charles was a terribly dangerous man.”

In the letters, Diana — who divorced Charles in 1996 — doesn't hold back about rival Camilla who was married when she became Charles' mistress and is now the prince's second wife.

“Diana hated her,” says the spy. “She wrote, ‘Camilla disgusts me.’ She said she treated her as a friend. But Camilla paid her back by playing ‘Spanking Nanny and Naughty Schoolboy’ with her husband in his study. ‘I know. I caught them red-handed,’ she said. ‘Camilla is rude and ugly.’”

Diana, however, saves her biggest barbs for Charles, telling Hewitt, “He's two-faced and weak and doesn't know how to please a woman!”

But the letters also reveal how much Diana cared for her military man. “She was madly in love with James and would do anything for him.

Diana

"She loved sex, but it was the intimacy Diana craved most," says the source. "She was desperately unhappy with Charles and craved affection."

Incredibly, Hewitt, through an intermediary, gave princes William and Harry the first right of refusal for the batch of letters that's up for sale via an American memorabilia dealer. The lot expected to fetch $150,000 at auction, includes a note from an 8-year-old William!

"Both brothers are enraged," says the insider. "To some, it smacks of blackmail. Hewitt should be very careful — he's playing with fire!"

However, it's not the first time Hewitt has tried hawking Diana's love notes.

In a stunning 1993 betrayal, he tried to peddle his entire collection for a staggering $15 million. At the time, there were no takers.

"But that was before the princess died in the violent car crash in Paris," says the insider. "Since she perished in 1997, the market for Di memorabilia has exploded!"

"Diana must be rolling in her grave."

Princess Diana was trapped in a loveless marriage and desperate for all the affection and attention James Hewitt could offer. Now he's offering her private thoughts for sale!

Rachael needs the support of hubby Rod to just stand up on two feet

ESS BACK FROM DEAD!

A TRAGIC actress turned into a 44-pound bedridden bag of bones by a killer eating disorder has made a miraculous comeback after breakthrough medical treatment and grueling physical therapy!

Anorexia-ravaged Rachael Farrokh, who was so frail she could barely speak just six months ago, is now able to walk for 15 minutes every day — the first steps she's taken in nearly a decade.

And the San Clemente, Calif., woman has finally hobbled away from death's door thanks to specialized treatment in Portugal funded by $200,000 in donations that poured in after her plight was highlighted on a YouTube video.

"I actually have a chance to live," says grateful 5-foot-7 Rachael, who still endures agony as she fights to regain her lost weight and strength. Her life turned around at a Portuguese clinic that used "love and support" to help her beat the disease. Treatments at American hospitals relied on "reward and punishment" tactics, which ignored "the brain must come along with the body," she says.

After her Portuguese treatment, she's now back in the U.S. using specialized equipment including a machine that helps her stand. She also has a "handpicked team" of medical experts and her devoted husband, Rod Edmondson, who quit his job to care for his wife around the clock, at her bedside.

Every step of the courageous Golden State gal's long road to health is being documented on the Internet.

"It's going to be a long recovery, it could be three to five years," Rachael admits. "But I know I can do this!"

COWARD COSBY IS HIDING LIKE A RAT!

AS HE prepares for court battles — accused of drugging and raping dozens of women — outcast Bill Cosby has become a virtual recluse in his massive Massachusetts compound.

“He’s like a scared rat,” says one neighbor living near the disgraced comic’s 21-acre estate in Shelburne Falls.

“It’s hard to believe he was once a loved comic and TV star, but now it’s like he’s living in shame for what those women say he did.

“Maybe it’s best he stays behind those walls.”

When Cosby needs some java from Shelburne Falls Coffee Roasters, he sends staffers to fetch it. But they’re forbidden to speak to anyone.

His only companion is

wife of 52 years Camille, who has stuck by him. He gets occasional visits from his four grown daughters.

When he leaves town, Cosby travels in one of the two planes he keeps at Westfield-Barnes Municipal Airport.

The shamed star has further isolated himself by buying up more land around his compound — where a sign on the gate warns: “If You Are Not Invited Do Not Pass Through These Gates.”

The 78-year-old comic was hailed as “America’s dad” and a role model for black youth after playing the perfect father on his hit sitcom from 1984 to 1992.

But dozens of women have come forward saying he spiked their drinks — then raped them.

In most cases, the statute of limitations prevents Cosby from being prosecuted for a crime. But Tamara Green, Linda Joy Trazit and Therese Serignese have clobbered him with lawsuits in Massachusetts, claiming he libeled them by denying their claims he’d sexually attacked them. Former supermodel Janice Dickinson hit him with a similar suit in California.

And Judy Huth is also suing him, but for the psychological damage she suffered after she says he molested her at the Playboy Mansion when she was just 15.

Federal prosecutors are investigating whether to charge him with a crime over claims by model Chloe Goins that Cosby drugged and attacked her at the Playboy Mansion in 2008.

Now Cosby, worth an estimated $400 million, is rarely seen in public. His shows have been yanked off the air, and colleges have revoked the honorary degrees they once awarded him.

“The world has turned against him and he’s living in disgrace,” says the neighbor. “He’s like a prisoner in a golden cage.”

His breakout role on "The Big Bang Theory" as socially awkward physicist Sheldon Cooper has earned him four Emmys and a Golden Globe award. But Jim Parsons is just as unique and entertaining in real life. Here are 10 things you didn't know about the detail-oriented and dorky actor who bought his house from a vampire and keeps the same hours as a retiree.

10 THINGS YOU DON'T KNOW ABOUT JIM PARSONS

1. Like his TV character, he grew up in Texas. His mom and sister teach first grade in the Houston area.

2. On one of his early TV gigs, a 2003 Quiznos commercial, his character was raised by wolves!

3. Jim's the highest-paid actor on TV. He raked in $29 million between June 2014 and June 2015.

4. He's been with graphic designer boyfriend Todd Spiewak (above) for 13 years.

4. He's as nerdy as Sheldon: "I'm a big reader of almanacs," he says. "And I like lists."

5. He has a star on the Hollywood Walk of Fame – it's at 6533 Hollywood Blvd.

6. He memorizes Sheldon's lines by writing them on notecards.

7. His home in L.A. once belonged to "Twilight" vampire Robert Pattinson.

8. He had his last drink – a beer – on New Year's Day 2007.

9. Jim hates karaoke and says he "robbed" his boyfriend of the sing-along pleasure.

10. He goes to sleep at 9 p.m.

BRUCE NEEDS EAR PIECE TO ACT!

BRUCE Willis is dying on stage in New York – but not because he's acting out a death scene!

The "Die Hard" star is making his Broadway debut in a limited run of "Misery," based on the Stephen King novel – but his spotty memory is killing the production, say spy-witnesses.

Bruce, 60, is wearing a noticeable earpiece, says an insider, and is being fed his lines because he can't remember the script!

When co-star Laurie Metcalf says a line, there's a painful, deathly delay before Bruce responds, says one spy.

The play is supposed to be suspenseful – but Bruce's delivery isn't supposed to be a source of dramatic tension!

"The script is changing and he's nervous," a source says. "But he's working very hard."

A SPOILED, selfish junkie gunned down his parents and dumped their bodies in the woods as part of a cold-blooded “perfect plan” to live a life of luxury with his girlfriend, police say.

But would-be mastermind Kyle Navin, 27, left behind a trail of text messages and damning physical evidence that exposed his savage murder plot, say investigators.

The chilling texts reveal Navin despised his father Jeffrey, calling him “a piece of crap” and “an infection.” In an exchange with girlfriend Jennifer Valiante, Navin says he’d like to “wipe out the infection and get money for life” and adds “it’s the perfect plan.”

Navin also texted Valiante they could have “hundreds of thousands to buy my truck and you a new car and enjoy life taking vacations, having fun with friends no stress no contact ever again with bad people.”

Navin raged at his parents over money he claimed to be owed and the “disrespectful” way he was treated at work by his father, who owned a trash hauling company.

Court records reveal his mother Jeanette told a friend they were about to cut their wayward son out of their will — which Navin

BLOOD MO

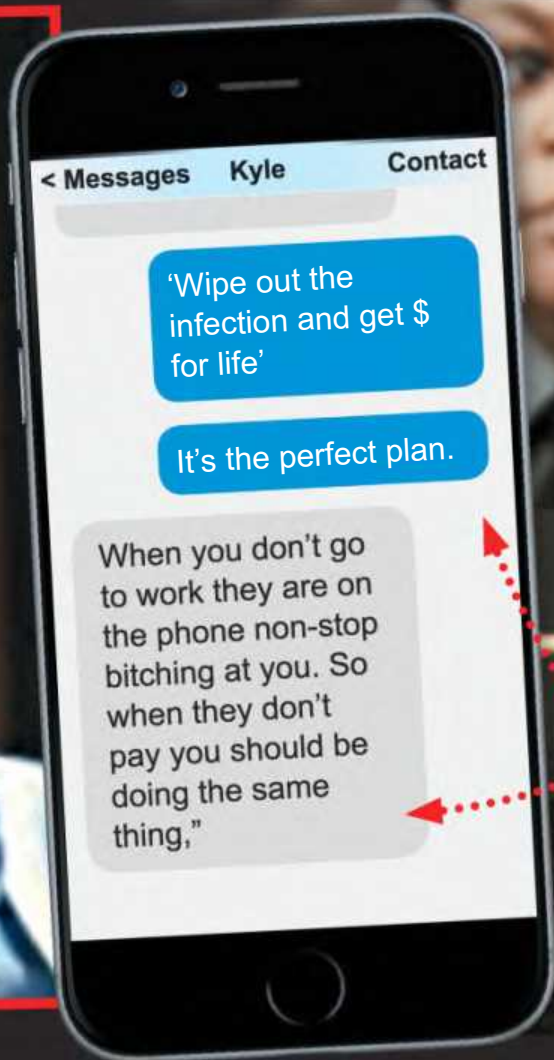

The parents' bodies were dumped at vacant home

The next day, Aug. 4, was the last day Jeffrey and Jeanette were seen alive, according to investigators.

Four days later, the couple were reported missing after they didn't turn up for work.

When police searched Navin's Bridgeport, Conn., home — which his parents helped him buy — they found

Jennifer Valiante and Kyle Navin (above) planned to live the high life on his parents' dough, say police a large piece of carpet missing from the basement as well as bloodstains that matched the DNA of the father and son!

They also found 30 empty bottles of prescription oxycodone pills and more than 100 empty vials of heroin!

Amazingly, 10 days after Jeffrey and Jeanette disappeared, detectives searched Navin's truck and discovered a bullet hole in the passenger side seat belt. Tests showed DNA from a speck of blood near the hole belonged to Jeanette, cops say.

Kyle, arrested on Sept. 8 for possession of a firearm by a drug user, wasn't helping the investigation. Police say he told different stories about his parents' whereabouts.

But in late October a tipster urged an investigator to search a vacant home in Weston, the town where Navin grew up.

Police found the remains of both parents in the backyard. Jeanette was covered by a blue tarp in a pile of brush and leaves. Lawmen determined she'd been shot in the chest. Jeffrey's corpse was stuffed inside heavy plastic bags.

Prosecutors charged Navin with his parents' murder. A judge set bail at $2.5 million, which he couldn't raise. His girlfriend was charged with conspiracy to commit murder and obstruction of justice.

Her lawyer Elliot R. Warren insists she's innocent. "She was looking for Kyle's parents as soon as she realized they were missing and trying to help find them," he says.

FREELoader Kato Kaelin, America's most notorious house guest, has finally blown the whistle on murderous O.J. Simpson — but it's too little, too late!

A key witness at O.J.'s 1995 trial for butchering his ex-wife Nicole Brown Simpson and her waiter pal Ron Goldman, Kato now believes The Juice got away with murder!

"In my opinion, yes, I think he's guilty," Kato tells Barbara Walters. "In hindsight, and everything, 20 years later, I think that O.J. Simpson is guilty."

Space cadet Kato, 56, became a laughingstock with his dazed, dumb answers on the witness stand during O.J.'s trial.

Prosecutors questioned O.J.'s house guest as a "hostile witness" to establish a timeline to prove the disgraced football star could have done the brutal killings.

Kato had gone to McDonald's with O.J. on the night of the slayings — and was one of the last to see O.J. before the time police say Nicole and Ron were stabbed to death.

Now, as O.J., 68, rots in jail on an unrelated robbery conviction, Kato is changing his tune — while insisting his trial testimony was accurate and he wasn't covering for the man who provided him with food and shelter. He says he only testified about "what I knew" and kept his damning "opinion" on O.J.'s guilt to himself.

However, some question Kato's timing. His recent

Kris is the ex-wife of O.J. "Dream Team" lawyer Robert Kardashian, the father of reality TV stars Kim, Khloe, Kourtney and Rob Kardashian.

"I don't know why Kato is talking about all this now," says one insider. "He may want to ingratiate himself with Kris and get a role on 'Keeping Up With the Kardashians.'"

Kato is also drawing flak on the Internet.

"No one cares what this man thinks," one blogger writes. "They didn't care then and they don't care now. The rent check must be due or the book isn't selling."

Poor Bindi Irwin!
After doing an incredible job on "Dancing with the Stars," the 17-year-old daughter of the late Croc Hunter Steve Irwin got caught up in a legal bureaucratic nightmare.

Dumbass Los Angeles Superior Court Judge Maren Nelson demanded proof Bindi's beloved dad is actually dead before she would sign off on the teen's contract with the TV competition.

Huh?

As everyone knows – with the exception of the jerky judge – Steve tragically died in 2006 after he was stabbed in the chest by a stingray barb. How the hell did she miss it?

But since Bindi is a minor she had to get court approval before she can get paid by the ABC show. Her mom, Terri, gave up any claims for the money. The judge demanded Steve also sign the release or the family has to prove he's dead.

Maren the Moron held up at least $230,000 in payments to Bindi, who danced her ass off on the hit series.

The judge is a fool – an absolute fool!

Tricky Dicky's terrible

NIXON KILLED JFK & STOLE HIS BRAIN!

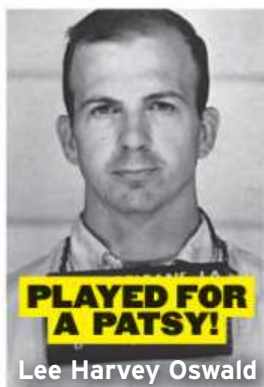

PRESIDENT John F. Kennedy was assassinated on the order of ruthless Richard Nixon, who later masterminded the theft of JFK's brain from a secret FBI vault to cover the murderers' trail!

Nixon used rogue CIA agents and professional hitmen, loyal to him, to plot and help carry out the chilling execution of his rival JFK, who he believed stole the White House by rigging the vote in the 1960 presidential election, a political insider reveals.

Now the evil plot is finally unraveling — more than 50 years later — as an imprisoned hitman confesses he was the mysterious “second gunman” in Dallas who executed America's Commander-in-Chief.

James Files, 72, who is serving time in Illinois for trying to kill two cops, claims he “fired one shot and one shot only” from the infamous “grassy knoll” and hit JFK “right along the temple, right behind the eye” as the presidential limo rolled through Dallas' Dealey Plaza on Nov. 22, 1963.

He insists another killer, mobster Charles “Chuckie” Nicoletti, was positioned in the Texas School Book Depository building to catch Kennedy in a crossfire.

Lee Harvey Oswald, who the feds named as the assassin, NEVER fired a shot, Files says. Oswald was set up and played for a patsy, says the killer.

“It's no great secret Nixon hated JFK,” says the source. “He was firmly convinced Kennedy authorized widespread voter fraud to beat him in 1960 and cheat him out of the presidency. As history has already shown us, Nixon had a twisted obsession to wipe out his enemies throughout his entire life.

“Nixon believed that as long as Kennedy was alive, he could

NIXON WAS A MURDERING MONSTER!

EXPLOSIVE SPECIAL REPORT

Nixon (left) debates JFK, who beat him in the 1960 presidential election

“He clearly wanted Kennedy out of the way so he could be President at some point. And there was a sizable portion of people within the CIA—many of whom were appointed during the Eisenhower/Nixon administration—who absolutely loathed Kennedy. They were convinced he wanted to break up the spy agency.

“It was a marriage made in hell and it all came together in that brief tragic moment in Dallas and changed the course of America. Kennedy never stood a chance.”

“The shooters had no idea who was behind it. They were following orders from way down the chain of command. Nixon was smart enough to distance himself from the shocking events. Nothing could be traced back to him,” adds the source.

Self-confessed assassin Files believes he was working for the CIA, but Nixon was REALLY his paymaster, sources say. He masterminded the murder and the cover-up conspiracy!

Nixon traveled to Dallas in the days before the assassination. Officially, he was in town on behalf of a client, Pepsi-Cola. He even publicly blasted Kennedy’s presidency — while plotting his enemy’s death, insiders reveal.

“He met with key members of the conspiracy to finalize details the night before JFK died,” says a ranking law enforcement official, who asked not to be identified. Nixon flew out of Dallas only hours before his paid assassin blew Kennedy’s head apart!

JFK’s shattered brain is the key evidence that proves Oswald couldn’t have committed the crime and that there was more than one shooter, the source tells GLOBE in a world exclusive.

“Everything America was told about Kennedy’s death was a total lie — it was a cover-up right from the start,” says the law enforcement source.

“The 1964 Warren Commission report on the assassination, which concluded JFK was killed by a single bullet, was a total whitewash and even the autopsy photos and findings were fakes!

“It was all designed to prop up the ‘lone gunman’ theory — and frame Oswald, who was

Oswald, eliminated by Jack Ruby (right), was the plot’s bogus “lone gunman” already dead.

“Kennedy’s brain was hit by at least two bullets and provided indisputable proof of a murder conspiracy. The people behind the assassination knew it had to be destroyed or their cover-up would collapse.”

Immediately after the actual autopsy, JFK’s brain was put in a 7-inch tall, 8-inch wide circular stainless steel container that was taken to a highly secure FBI vault, the lawman says.

Ex-CIA director Allen Dulles pulled the strings in scheme to kill JFK

BOGUS PHOTO

AUTOPSY WAS FAKED TO PROTECT THE KILLERS!

Photographic voodoo hid missing sections of the right rear part of JFK’s head (left) — and conspirators literally sliced his throat to enlarge a tiny circular entry wound made by the bullet that killed him. Bethesda Naval Hospital lab tech Curtis Jenkins, who assisted on JFK’s autopsy, blew the whistle. He said, “There was no possible way” for ANY photos to show the President’s head was intact because it was “kind of blown apart from the rear,” which indicates Kennedy was shot from the front, not from behind as the Warren Commission concluded. And the government HID a photo (far right) showing a doctor measuring several bullet holes in Kennedy’s back! The official report insisted he was only hit by ONE shot!

JACK RUBY WAS PAID

OSWALD

But in 1966, when forensic investigators went to retrieve the canister from an evidence locker in the National Archives, “it was gone without a trace — and all the evidence logs were missing, too,” says the source. “It had all the earmarks of a CIA ‘black bag’ job, a top secret break-in to cover their tracks.”

Renowned forensic pathologist Dr. William Manion tells GLOBE JFK’s missing organ makes it virtually impossible to determine the number of bullets that shattered his head.

In the case of a head wound, “normally the brain is the most important thing for a pathologist to examine, because it shows the bullet’s entrance, its exit and the direction it traveled,” the doctor says. “There may be bullet fragments that can determine if different types of projectiles were used.”

Nixon’s right-hand man in the conspiracy was former CIA Director Allen Dulles, who recruited the Mafia to help.

Tricky Dicky had a willing partner in Dulles, who was appointed CIA chief by the Eisenhower/Nixon administration, but later was pushed out by Kennedy after the failed 1961 Bay of Pigs invasion.

The invasion was designed to topple dictator Fidel Castro and restore the Mob’s grip on the island’s gambling rackets.

Amazingly, after the assassination Nixon helped arrange Dulles’ appointment to the Warren Commission and “guaranteed the truth about Kennedy’s murder would never come out!” a Justice Department source tells GLOBE.

After setting up Oswald to take the fall — and directing his murder by Dallas gangland associate Jack Ruby — Dulles gave orders for a bogus autopsy report to be issued by medics at Bethesda (Md.) Naval Hospital outside Washington, D.C., where the President’s body was literally taken at gunpoint!

“Official” photos of the autopsy were doctored to substantiate the lone gunman theory — and deflect attention away from Nixon, the CIA and Dulles. Finally, JFK’s brain was snatched and destroyed.

Says world renowned forensic pathologist Cyril Wecht, “Now no one can account for the location of the President’s brain! This proves beyond any doubt there was a cover-up!”

Five years after the assassination, Nixon won the White House after beating Democrat Hubert Humphrey in the general election — and his vengeance was complete.

HORRIFIED JACKIE SAW HUSBAND’S HEAD EXPLODE!

GRABBING FOR JFK’S SKULL!

FIRST Lady Jacqueline Kennedy went to her grave haunted by the gruesome horror of her husband’s assassination — she literally carried pieces of his brain into the hospital.

In a graphic interview with author Theodore White just days after JFK’s murder, the President’s widow described the shooting in chilling detail.

“It sounded like a backfire,” she recalled. “Jack had his hand out — I could see a piece of his skull coming off.”

“It was flesh-colored, not white. He was holding out his hand and I can see this perfectly clean piece detaching itself from his head. Then he slumped in my lap. His blood and his brains were in my lap.”

Describing the frantic drive to Dallas’ Parkland Memorial Hospital, she adds, “I tried to hold his head down. Maybe I could keep it (his brain) in.”

Later, JFK’s shell-shocked 34-year-old wife stood in the corner of the hospital’s Trauma Room One as surgeons frantically tried to resuscitate the mortally wounded President.

After Kennedy was declared dead, Jackie approached anesthesiologist Dr. Marion “Pepper” Jenkins, and without saying a word, gave him a piece of skull and brain tissue.

The First Lady had been carrying the skull fragments and tissue after clinging to the trunk of the limousine immediately after the deadly gunfire.

Dr. Jenkins saw Jackie kiss the dead President’s hand, head and foot before saying her farewell.

A relative later recalls, “It was the worst heartbreak he’d ever witnessed.”

DIVERTICULITIS AGONY LINKED TO OBESITY!

DIVERTICULITIS, the painful and disabling colon condition, is on the rise — and a new study suggests an increase in the number of overweight people may be to blame!

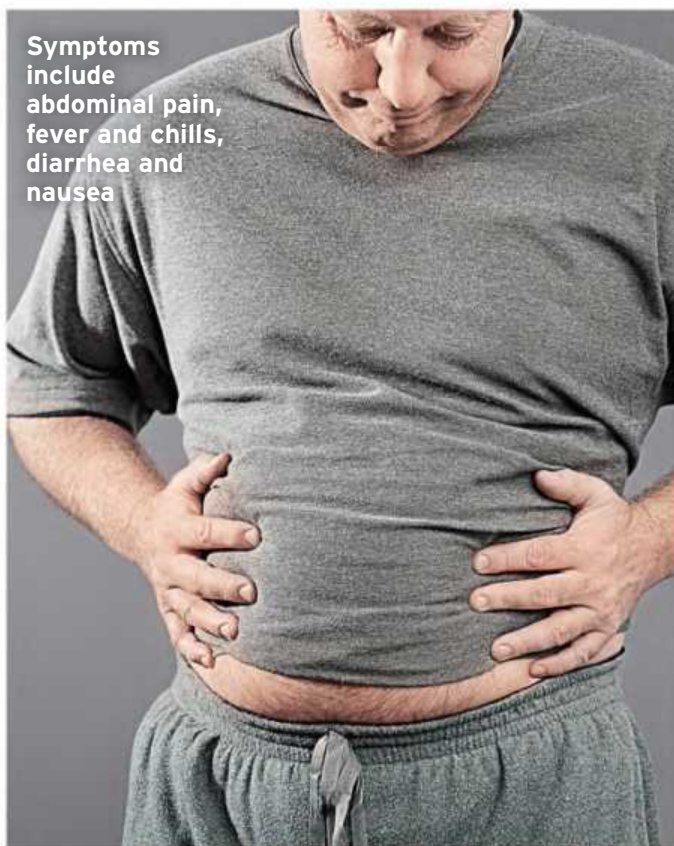

Cases involving Americans being treated for diverticulitis have doubled since 2000, inflicting acute agony, bowel blockage and fever on patients, according to University of North Carolina scientist Dr. Anne Peery.

Most patients with diverticulitis are unable to work or perform their day-to-day activities, says Peery, who suspects obesity may be the root cause for the disease.

“It’s an unpredictable disease and that can be a source of significant stress,” she says.

While the problem, caused by an infection in small pouches that form along the large intestine, can be treated with antibiotics in minor

Symptoms include abdominal pain, fever and chills, diarrhea and nausea cases, advanced diverticulitis can require hospitalization. Generally, the condition develops as you age — though more and more overweight people under 60 are suffering from the problem.

“Traditionally, low intake of dietary fiber has been implicated as a cause of diverticulitis,” but the role of diet is still unclear, says Dr. Adil E. Bharucha of the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn. “As always, it helps to quit smoking, exercise, lose weight, and to avoid using aspirin and non-steroidal anti-inflammatory drugs — NSAIDs — if possible.”

But no one really knows exactly what causes the disease despite a possible link to obesity, says Peery.

“It’s probably best to just be aware of the disease and seek appropriate medical care if one develops the symptoms,” she says.

Carrots can save your eyesight

+ EATING carrots really CAN help your eyesight! Pigments called carotenoids — which give carrots their color — can slow the progression of age-related macular degeneration (AMD), a leading eye-disease. People who consumed the most carotenoids had a 40 percent lower risk of developing the advanced form of AMD, according to a recent study. The condition, a common cause of vision loss in older people, is expected to afflict 196 million sufferers by 2020.

Bubonic plague strikes in Oregon!

+ AN OREGON teenager has contracted the feared bubonic plague, which wiped out millions during Europe’s Middle Ages! The girl, 16, whose name is being kept secret by authorities, apparently got the disease from a flea’s bite while hunting. She was hospitalized and is expected to survive. Oregon has had eight plague cases in 20 years, none have been fatal.

WARNING! ANTIOXIDANTS MAY SPREAD SKIN CANCER!

ANTIOXIDANTS make killer skin cancer spread rapidly, a shocking new study indicates! The "superfood" supplement, touted as a key weapon in the battle to boost the immune system, is now being exposed as a danger to people with melanoma, the deadliest form of skin cancer.

Swedish study author Martin Bergo of the University of Gothenburg says the compound found in food and often taken in pill form "could increase the spread of cancer in melanoma patients."

During lab tests, the number

Melanoma sufferers are warned to stay away from antioxidant supplements of tumors in mice with the skin disease doubled – then spread to lymph nodes – after 80 days on the antioxidant called N-acetylcysteine (NAC).

Human melanoma cells growing in lab tests increased their ability to invade healthy cells – and spread to other parts of the body – when dishes were exposed to NAC, research found.

"We would recommend people who have been diagnosed with malignant melanoma to avoid antioxidant supplements," says Bergo.

CRUISE CRUSHING

ON JEN GARNER!

Tom flirts with Jen (with Ben, center) before the 2013 BAFTA honors in London

LOVESICK Tom Cruise has set his sights on troubled mom Jennifer Garner — and if her on-and-off marriage to wayward Ben Affleck finally falls apart the “Mission: Impossible” star is ready to pounce, say sources.

Tom, 53, has been crushing on “Alias” beauty Jen for at least a decade, Hollywood insiders tell GLOBE.

“As far as Tom’s concerned she’s the perfect woman,” reveals a close pal.

“She’s sexy, she’s fit, she’s incredibly smart and talented.”

But Tom will have to be patient. As GLOBE revealed in early November, Jen is giving bad boy Ben, 43, a second chance after calling off their divorce.

Their 10-year marriage exploded this summer after Ben was accused of having an affair with the nanny to the couple’s three kids.

A top relationship expert warned Jen she was “crazy” to take Ben back.

“If things don’t work out, Tom believes he’s the man to step in and give Jen a new lease on life,” says the source, who reveals the pint-sized Scientologist was smitten with 43-year-old Jen before he wed now ex-wife Katie Holmes in 2006. “He wouldn’t make a move while Ben’s still around, but he definitely sees Jen as the one who got away.”

“They have a common interest in martial arts,” says the pal. “They’ve both trained with the same people over the years, so Tom could make their first date a karate workout in the gym!”

SALES GAL BROOKE GETS ROYAL TREATMENT

BROOKE Shields has some sparkly new accessories to go with her Calvins.

The 50-year-old “Endless Love” star is hawking her own jewelry line, Legacy Brooke, after discovering she’s descended from French royalty.

The connection came out on the genealogy show “Who Do You Think You Are?” — and the glitzy trinkets soon followed.

“I found out that my family history goes back to Louis XIV, and it was those classic designs that [we] kept going back to,” Brooke claims.

Her partner in glitter is jeweler Robert Procop, who also designed a line with Angelina Jolie.

Brooke’s worn a ton of his pieces over the years, and now you can wear some of hers — if you have $5,000 to $300,000 to scrape together.

MY BOTOX HORROR!

Botched injections froze Christie's face

SUPERMODEL Christie Brinkley tried desperately to cover up a plastic surgery nightmare that ravaged her world-famous face!

In her new book "Timeless Beauty: Over 100 Tips, Secrets, and Shortcuts to Looking Great," Christie confesses she dabbled in cosmetic procedures after worrying wrinkles on her forehead were making her look old.

"Looking back, I don't even know why I bothered," she writes. "My forehead looked fine – until I got the Botox! Instead of making me look serene and relaxed, it took the arch out of my eyebrows and made me look sad. I actually started to feel depressed too!"

Her brows drooped so dramatically, "It made me look like I was punched in the eye," she says. "I couldn't move my forehead. I had to wear hats!"

Though she vowed never to use the injections again, the cover girl admits she relented after noticing "particularly obvious" stringy bands in her neck. "The easiest way to address this issue was to inject a small amount of Botox. It worked wonders," says the 61-year-old beauty.

Christie won't name who botched her first Botox job, but reveals she saw cosmetic injection king Fredric Brandt. He committed suicide last April after being "devastated" by Martin Short's parody of him on Netflix's "Unbreakable Kimmy Schmidt."

Christie, who wore hats to hide her forehead, admits a new Botox dose "tightened my double chin area and jawline"

Susan Lucci snuggles daughter Liza, whose 7-year-old son suffers from cerebral palsy

GRANNY SUSAN'S TRAGIC CRUSADE

LEGENDARY soap star Susan Lucci has met her biggest foe: cerebral palsy.

The TV icon's 7-year-old grandson, Brendan, has the neurological disorder — and she's fighting for him in true Erica Kane fashion!

The "All My Children" diva, 68, vows, "I won't spare any expense to make sure my grandson has as normal a life as possible," a friend tells GLOBE.

Cerebral palsy affects muscle and movement. Susan's daughter, actress Liza Huber, saw the signs early. "When Brendan was 10 months old and he couldn't sit up on his own, I had to start kind of thinking about it," Liza says.

"At 19 months he couldn't stand up. There was just no being in denial anymore."

Brendan, who was born nine weeks premature to "Passions" actress Liza and her hubby Alex Hesterberg, was officially diagnosed in 2010.

"Susan was devastated when Liza told her the news," adds an insider.

Now the "Devious Maids" star is committed to finding a cure.

"Nothing is more important to Susan than her family," says one soap source. "She'd do anything to help Brendan, and if that means spending a fortune on the best treatment anywhere in the world for him, she won't hesitate."

CRASH KILLS SOAP HUNK

SOAP star Nathaniel Marston is dead after a horrific car crash threatened to leave him paralyzed from the neck down.

Nathaniel, 40, succumbed to his injuries in a Nevada hospital on Nov. 11.

The actor, who played Michael McBain and Al Holden on "One Life to Live" and Eddie Silva on "As the World Turns," was involved in a single-vehicle accident near Reno, Nev., on Oct. 30. Police believe he fell asleep at the wheel and his truck drifted into the opposing lane and flipped over.

His mother, Elizabeth Jackson, kept fans updated on his progress via Facebook and broke the news of his death in a devastating message.

"Had Nathaniel lived he would have required a ventilator and would never have been able to utter one

Nathaniel Marston was crippled when his truck rolled over on a Nevada highway. He died in the hospital more word and would have been sentenced to life as a quadriplegic," she says, calling it "a condition that Nate would never have been able to tolerate."

The soap opera community is still reeling over his death.

"Everybody was rooting for him to pull through. It's a truly tragic loss," says one insider.

TRAGIC Delta Burke is trapped in a wheelchair after battling obesity and mental illness!

The two-time Emmy nominee, 59, was recently spotted with her actor husband, Gerald McRaney, wheeling herself up to an airline counter at Los Angeles International Airport and looking happier and much slimmer than she has in the past. Still, the former “Designing Women” brunette is plagued by physical problems.

“Delta’s never fully recovered from a nasty fall she took on the set of her TV pilot, ‘Counter Culture,’ in 2012,” says a source close to the actress.

“Her accident led to Delta’s comeback series being scrapped — and she hasn’t worked much since.”

Delta is honest about the dry spell, saying that there is “no work on the horizon,” but adding, “Everything is fine, I’m just not very exciting right now!”

Big Battles

The former Miss Florida has certainly made waves in the past.

Delta, who has battled weight problems for decades, was fired from “Designing Women” in 1991 after tipping the scale at 215 pounds.

Then, in 2006, she was co-starring on ABC’s “Boston Legal” when she was hit by crippling depression, panic attacks and a compulsive hoarding disorder.

In 2008, she was checked into a psychiatric hospital.

She was making a comeback on “Counter Culture,” an ABC sitcom about sisters running a West Texas diner. But production was suspended when she fell on the set, and the pilot was not picked up.

Still, Delta gets strong support from her 68-year-old husband, Gerald.

“Mac loves me no matter what,” she assures. “He loved me when I got as big as a house. He loved me when I was a blonde. He didn’t tell me he hated it (being blonde) until I went back to brunette.

“He still thinks my body looks great — and I can certainly tell you it does not!” But brave Delta keeps rolling along!

O'REILLY SPINNING OUT OF CONTROL

PULITZER Prize-winning conservative darling George Will is blasting FOX News' Bill O'Reilly for telling lies about former President Ronald Reagan in his book!

Livid over O'Reilly's charge that Reagan watched "soap operas all day long" on the White House's second floor and "was often addled to the point of incompetence," an outraged Will has publicly spanked the "No Spin Zone" newsman.

He insists O'Reilly's "pretense of scholarship" is a form of incompetence, saying the best-selling "Killing Reagan" relied on "a sewer of rumors and innuendos" to fill its pages!

"This book is nonsensical history," says Will, "and should come with a warning: 'Caution: You are about to enter a no-facts zone!'"

TRUMP DECLARES WAR ON GRINCHES!

Donald promises that if he is elected, everyone will say Merry Christmas!

DONALD Trump is vowing to save Christmas!

The Republican presidential front-runner, fed up with political correctness, promises: "If I become President, we're all going to be saying, 'Merry Christmas' again. That I can tell you."

The Donald's comments came as the business mogul blasted coffee giant Starbucks for using plain red holiday cups, which are without images of snowflakes, winter scenes or Christmas ornaments for the first time in years.

"Trump is finally saying what's on a lot of people's minds," says one insider. "In a ridiculous effort to not offend anybody, we've taken Christ out of Christmas. Now people have to say 'Season's greetings' or 'Happy holidays.' This is just plain silly. Donald wants to get back to saying 'Merry Christmas,' and so do millions of others."

"Over the years there has been a desperate effort to downplay the significance of Christmas. That has to stop and I'm confident Trump will put an end to that."

Increasingly, many department stores, which count on Christmas sales to stay in business, now have generic holiday decorations. Gone are Christmas trees, nativity scenes — and even Santa Claus! Some local governments have banned religious displays in public areas, opting for a more general holiday theme.

A group called the Freedom From Religion Foundation has demanded the city of Collins, Miss., do away with religious displays in a park. For Christmas, the park usually erects an illuminated Jesus, a large cross being carried by Jesus, three more crosses, a small chapel replica and a large sign reading, "I am the light of the world," with an image of Jesus.

"People are sick of this nonsense," the insider says. "But for those who doubt it will ever change, all I can say is: 'Yes, Virginia, there is a Donald Trump!'"

"The Wiz Live!"

Thurs., Dec. 3, NBC, 8 p.m.

Shanice Williams, Common, Queen Latifah and Mary J. Blige headline NBC's live TV production of "The Wiz." The hit musical fuses "The Wizard of Oz" with the funk-a-delicious streets of New York City.

GABBY'S SEXY ROMP SPARKS EXPLOSION!

PLUS-SIZE Gabourey Sidibe is caught in a huge flap after starring in an explicit love scene on Fox's blockbuster "Empire!"

Mean-spirited viewers insist Gabby, who plays Becky on the drama, is too "morbidly obese" to have an on-camera romp. But the 32-year-old says, "I felt sexy and beautiful" while getting down and dirty on a lounge chair with her hottie TV boyfriend, rapper J Poppa, portrayed by Mo McRae.

"I had the most fun ever filming that scene even though I was nervous. I felt like I was doing a good job," she says.

Her enthusiasm certainly looks convincing as partially dressed J Poppa hikes her bare thigh over his hip while they make out.

The sexy snuggle has commentators in a tizzy, firing off horrible remarks about Gabby's weight and looks. "I hope that poor guy got hazardous duty pay," writes one creep.

Luckily, Gabby, best known for her Oscar-nominated role in 2009's "Precious," hasn't let the negative chatter get to her. She writes on a blog, "I keep hearing that people are 'hating' on it. I'm not sure how anyone could hate on love but that's okay." She notes she's "booked" and too busy with work to bother with nasty remarks.

Gabourey Sidibe and Mo McRae in their hot-and-heavy "Empire" session

The bitingly funny star has gotten the last laugh on haters before. Her tweet after mean comments about her 2014 Golden Globes dress says, "I mos def cried about it on that private jet on my way to my dream job last night."

Sounds like she's got a leg up on her critics!

TV FACT

Movie star Demi Moore's first major role was as investigative reporter Jackie Templeton on "General Hospital" from 1982-83.

ONE of television's most hated moms is making a surprising comeback after getting booted – along with her last show – because of an ugly child molestation scandal.

Mama June Shannon from TLC's "Here Comes Honey Boo Boo" is part of WETV's "Marriage Boot Camp: Reality Stars," premiering Friday, Dec. 4. She hopes to fix her relationship with Honey Boo Boo's dad, Mike Sugar Bear Thompson.

"I feel like he had cheated for quite some time," says June, explaining her train-wreck relationship with Sugar Bear. "I needed some answers."

But viewers are STILL asking questions about June's bizarre hookup with child molester Mark McDaniell, an old flame she took back after dumping Sugar Bear in September 2014. Viewers were stunned Mama June allowed Mark around her four daughters – particularly since he reportedly assaulted Anna "Chickadee" Cardwell, when she was 8.

The resulting outrage got "Honey Boo Boo" canned last fall. Since then, June and her fame-hungry brood have maintained a relatively low profile.

TV'S BIGGEST BOO-BOO: MAMA JUNE'S COMEBACK

Mama June (second from right) with Honey Boo Boo (Alana Thompson, right), Mike Sugar Bear Thompson and daughter Lauryn Shannon

"We want you all to see the true side of all of us," says June, relishing her TV return.

But people who are sick of ANY side of Honey Boo Boo and Mama June are already blasting the "nasty family."

One critic fumes, "Just when we thought we no longer had to hear about these dysfunctional people, the nightmare returns."

Barbara Hershey rules "Once" as Queen of Hearts

'ONCE UPON A TIME' GOES BAD TO THE BONE

BELOVED baddies are making their way back to Storybrooke for the 100th episode of ABC's twisted fairy tale "Once Upon a Time."

The creepy cavalcade features Barbara Hershey as Cora the nasty Queen of Hearts, Giancarlo Esposito as the mean Magic Mirror, Robbie Kay as an evil Peter Pan and Emma Caulfield as the Blind Witch killed by Hansel and Gretel.

In addition, "Ally McBeal" actor Greg Germann will play an important but mysterious character referred to only as "The Distinguished Gentleman."

The show is already plenty packed with devious fantasy folks, so the bulk order of bad guys for the big anniversary episode has insiders buzzing.

"Once Upon a Time" has already been to the Enchanted Forest, Neverland, Oz, Wonderland and Camelot ... could Hell be the next stop? Where else would so many MIA and DOA evildoers converge?

1 Who played Lily on "The Munsters"?

But now, with the gift of a Dream Bike from ChildFund, she's riding — safely and quickly — toward her dream of one day attending university. In 11 countries, ChildFund is making it possible for girls to continue their education by giving them much-needed bicycles and safe passage to a better future.

Gaven goes all out as a defensive tackle for his team, and vows to get stronger and tougher next year!

THIS KID'S ALL GUTS!

Seventh-grader born without arms & legs is a football star

GUTSY Gaven Toney is schoolboy football sensation — tackling long odds and opponents even though his missing part of his arms and legs!

But the seventh grader more than makes up for his missing body parts with a whole lot of heart, grit and determination.

Despite by his handicap, the 12-year-old plays the grueling position of defensive tackle for Stetson Middle School, located near Philadelphia.

Using special shoes on the field, Gaven is like any other pigskin player in action, taking plenty of hits while making big plays to help his team.

A fan of the Philadelphia Eagles, Gaven takes his cues from star running backs DeMarco Murray and Ryan Mathews.

The youngster has tried other sports in the past, but this is his first crack at football.

His mom, Jeanelle, is admittedly worried about him playing such a rough sport.

“Usually I’m hoping that he doesn’t get hurt and that he gives his all every time — he tries it, no matter what.”

Gaven has hopes of playing football professionally or working as an analyst when he grows up, but for now he’s enjoying his experience on the field.

“This is just the pre-show. Next year, I will be tougher, stronger and better than them,” he vows.

His coach Mitch Hoffman couldn’t be prouder saying Gaven makes his job satisfying.

As for opposing teams, Gaven has some simple advice: “If you discount me, then you will be laying on the ground in pain.”

HOT BUN

TV chefs have groupies eating out of the hands

WOW! The newest recipe for fame, fortune and steamy sex is working as a TV chef!

Showbiz insiders reveal how top cooks now get perks once reserved for rock stars — fired-up femmes who delight in kitchen “quickies” and heapin’ spoonfuls of lusty love.

Chef Todd English, 55, was caught on camera living the “wok ’n’ roll” lifestyle last year with three beauties who jumped naked into a hot tub to party with their fave foodie!

“People are passionate about seeing chefs like Mario Batali, 55, share his favorite recipe onstage the way they used to go crazy seeing the Beatles,” says Lee Schrager, producer of the South Beach Wine & Food Festival and the New York City Wine & Food Festival.

Jonathan Waxman, 65, one of the first celebrity chefs of the 1980s, adds, “The attention is a thousand times more intense now. Some people get completely crazy!”

And it’s not just the guys who have their fervent fans eager to squeeze their buns.

Sexy gourmet goddesses like the Food Network’s Giada de Laurentiis have their own legions of lovestruck men.

“Giada is a tasty dish who just sexes up the kitchen,” says one fan. “When she’s cooking her Italian recipes, the last thing I’m thinking about is the food!”

Giada, 45, who recently divorced Todd Thompson, father of her daughter, Jade, 7, is said to have “great chemistry” with newly divorced Food Network star Bobby Flay, 50.

But Giada denies any affair — saying she’d never date another chef. “I know better. I’m one of them. I’m smarter than that!”

To prove her point, she’s found love with Shane Farley, the executive producer of the talk show “FABLife”!

But food groupies will stop at nothing for a taste of the action.

New York chef John Daley admits one curvy customer returned to his restaurant after having sushi with her date.

“She was quite aggressive physically,” he says. “We drank and had sex in the back of the restaurant! She’s been back a few times.”

“Top Chef” winner Kevin Sbraga, 36, was accosted in public! “I was at the pool and this woman came up,” he says. “She was kissing on me, on my neck, my face. It was gross! I had to call my wife to get me out of there!”

Marc Forgione, 36, who won

“The Next Iron Chef” on the Food Network in 2010, is also shocked.

“The other night, a woman said to the server, ‘After the meal we just had, if the chef came out, I’d have sex with him in front of my husband!’

“Then the husband said, ‘After that meal, I wouldn’t mind watching!’”

Talk about a blue plate special!

ALL MEN ARE DOGS!

Laughing 17-year-old ELIZABETH TAYLOR battles her cocker spaniel Amy – named after her role in “Little Women” – during a wet and wild grooming session in early 1950. The young star of “National Velvet” and “Lassie Come Home” was passionate about pooches and ponies throughout her career. FREE... and Then Some!

Exclusive Jewelry Offer: FREE DiamondAura® Anjou Pendant and a FREE Gift

Stunning jewelry... Romance... The perfect gift. A smile and a kiss, and then, WHAM!... a huge credit card bill. But at Stauer, A smile... A kiss... A hug... and NO bill!

No one else does this. That's the point. Stauer isn't like any one else and we can prove it. Stauer's 2 million clients are simply smarter than your average consumer—and we have the numbers to prove it. Call today and we'll send you this stunning 3.25 total carat DiamondAura® Anjou Pendant in gleaming .925 sterling silver, absolutely FREE. You pay only $24.95 for our regular shipping & processing... and we'll even pay you back with a $25 Discount Certificate that will arrive with your pendant! That's our Better Than Free shipping! That's smart jewelry shopping!

A spectacular symbol of love. Nothing is more important than making a great first impression. That's why we created in the labs our DiamondAura Anjou Pendant. One of jewelry's most distinctive cuts, this pear shape absolutely explodes with brilliant light.

Our designers set the 2.75 carat white pear-shaped DiamondAura centerpiece in .925 sterling silver and surrounded it with 70 round-cut DiamondAura dazzlers. It's easy to see why our clients are raving about DiamondAura—you won't find a clearer diamond rival!

What is DiamondAura? Gemologists have broken the code to create an impeccable, sustainable lab-created stone with even more fire and better clarity than mined diamonds. In the laboratory, they found a way to rival the brilliance of a diamond while avoiding the outrageous price and ecological impact. The complex laboratory process involves rare minerals heated to an incredibly high temperature of nearly 5,000° F inside some very modern and expensive equipment.

Our exclusive lab-created DiamondAura is hard enough to cut glass and retains every jeweler's specification including color, cut, clarity and carat weight. According to the book Jewelry and Gems – The Buying Guide the technique used in DiamondAura offers, "The best diamond simulation made to date, and even some jewelers have mistaken these stones for mined diamonds."

Now back to your first question. This offer sounds too good to be true, but we made it "too good" for a reason. What better way to introduce you to the guilt-free fun of getting luxury for less than by offering you a free pendant. We don't waste big money on billboards, silly celebrity endorsements or retail stores. We'd rather spend it on you.

Too good to pass up. Too good to last long. We can only offer such an outrageous deal for a short time every few years. We only have about 3500 of these pendants in stock. Call to reserve your FREE DiamondAura Anjou Pendant and treat yourself (or someone you love) to a brilliant new definition of priceless luxury!
